KELLY WHO?

IT'S out of sight, out of mind for former Live! co-hosts Regis Philbin and Kelly Ripa who haven't even spoken in more than three years!

"I haven't seen her, I don't see her. She's probably just busy," says Regis, who made the former soap actress an A-list star when he hired her to replace Kathie Lee Gifford in 2001.

Regis Philbin hasn't seen ex-sidekick Ripa in 3 years

They seemed like a perfect fit during their 10 years together on the long-running morning show, but there's been zero communication since Regis left over a salary dispute in November 2011.

The 83-year-old even admits he recently paid a visit to ABC Studios - but didn't stop by for a reunion with the 44-year-old blonde beauty.

"It's like he's snubbing her," says a source.

But insiders insist Kelly gave Regis the brush off. He wanted to stay in touch with the married mom of three, a source tells GLOBE, but as soon as he was out the door, Kelly slammed it shut behind him!

"Regis realized

Kelly has moved on

Kelly was focused on her own life and career," the source says. "But it seemed to everyone like she turned her back on him."

Regis HAS stayed close with former Live! co-host Kathie Lee, who sat next to him from 1985 to 2000.

"She lives in Greenwich, (Conn.) and I'm a weekend guy there, so I do see a lot of her," says Regis.

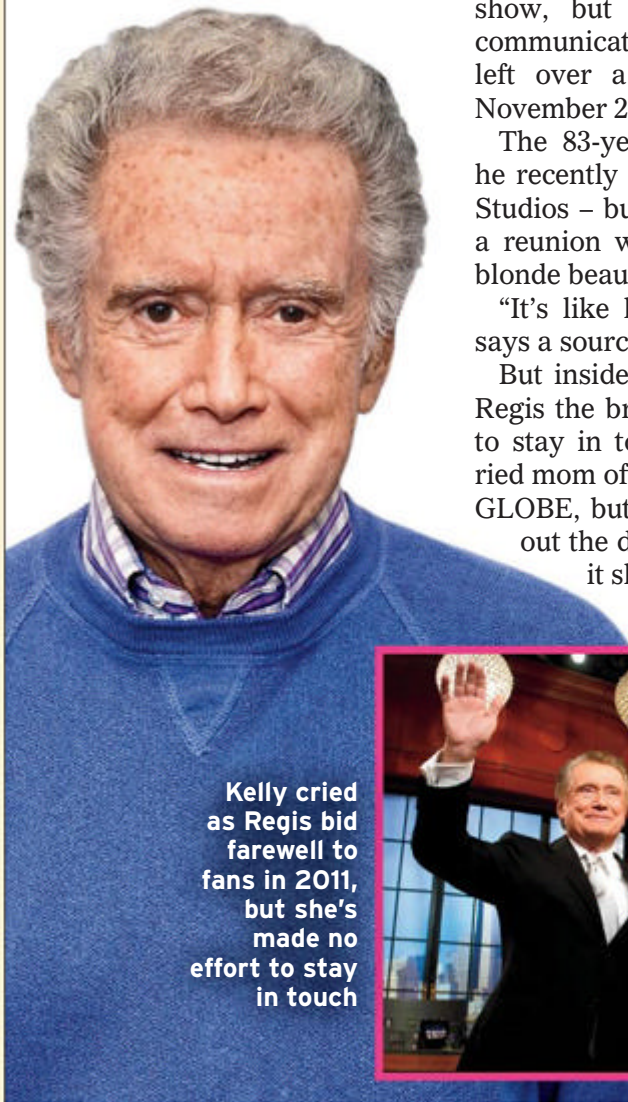

Says the source, "Kathie Lee is more of his generation. Her husband, Frank, is Regis' age, so they spend a lot of time with Reege and his wife, Joy.

"Kelly's younger and doesn't have much in common with them now that they don't work together."

Meanwhile, Kelly has seen ratings improve since former football star Michael Strahan took over Regis' seat and appears to be focusing on the future and forgetting about the past.

"It's a shame," adds the source. "Regis and Kelly shared so much over their decade together."

200-LB CANDICE BERGEN TRASHES SKINNY HOLLYWOOD!

FAT's where it's at for Candice Bergen!

The former Murphy Brown star has packed on at least 30 pounds and is now said to tip the scales at 200! But she has no regrets about living large.

"I'm fat," Bergen, 68, boasts in her new memoir, A Fine Romance. "I live to eat. None of this 'eat to live' stuff for me. I am a champion eater. No carb is safe – no fat is, either."

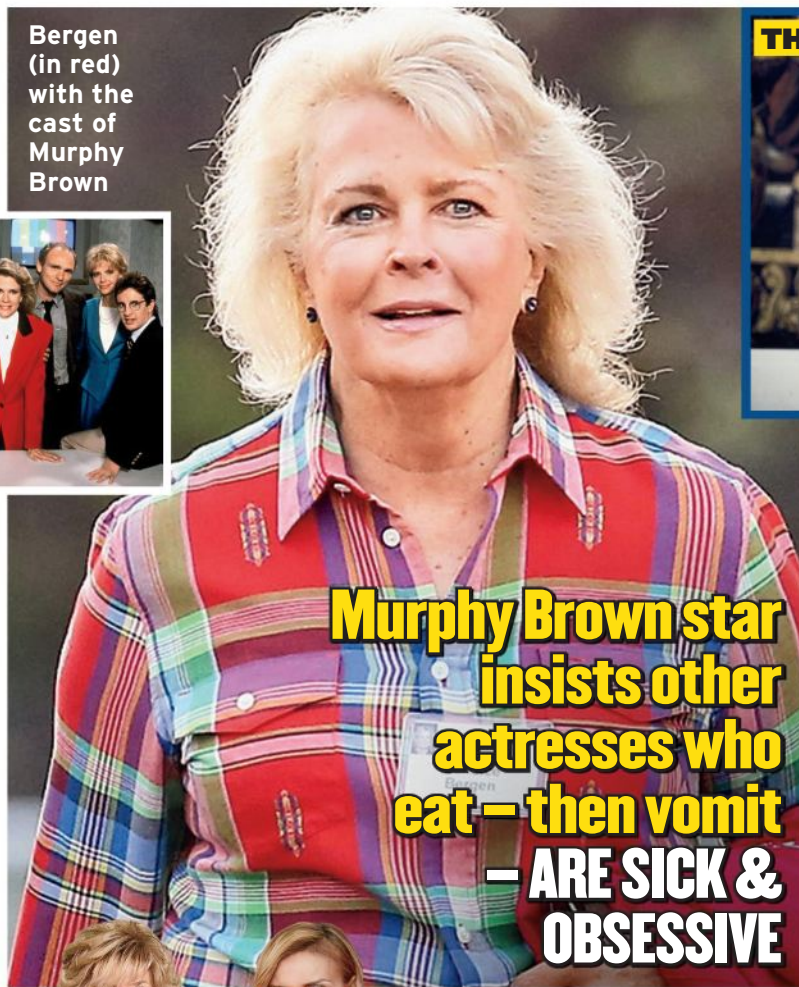

But a source says the 5-foot-8 actress is celebrating her expanding waistline for a reason. She's waging a war on weight-obsessed Hollywood, striking a blow for actresses who feel forced to starve themselves to succeed or, even worse, throw up after they eat.

Warped

"Candice sees so many of today's actresses become sick and obsessive about their weight," says a friend. "She finally realized how warped it all is and has told actresses they have to stand up to male power-brokers who keep pressuring them to stay skinny."

"Candy is too much of a lady to name names but she must have

And she had a second act after turning 40, winning five Emmys as reporter Murphy Brown in the 1990s TV series. Once caught up in a never-ending quest to stay slim, Candice began to gain weight after suffering a stroke in 2006. She even asked the wardrobe department to hide her bulk while co-starring on Boston Legal the following year.

Then, she saw the light.

"Finally, Candice just said, 'What the hell am I doing?' " reveals the friend. "She decided she wasn't going to fight Father Time – or her waistline. And she's been a much, much happier person as a result."

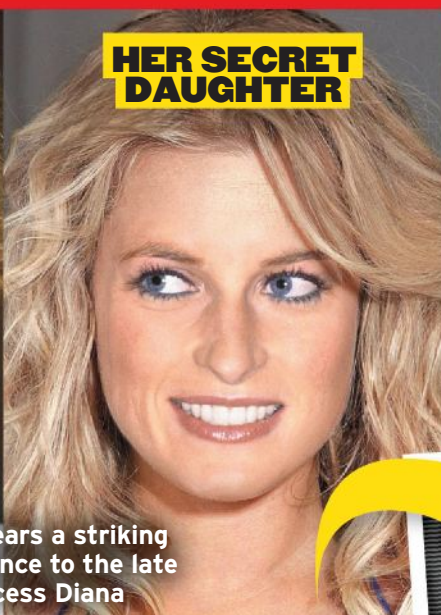

That's because it's fun to eat.

Says Candice, "I crave cookies...all the things that dilate my pupils. Skinny women maintain their weight by routinely vomiting after meals...I am incapable of this."

Sarah bears a striking resemblance to the late Princess Diana

Di's secret d 'YOU KIL

PRINCE CHARLES had an explosive confrontation with the woman who claims to be the secret daughter of his late ex-wife Diana.

When he coldly rebuffed the woman – who's an amazing look-alike for the Princess – sources say she leveled the bombshell accusation that the Prince killed Diana!

The clandestine rendezvous was arranged under strict security during Prince Charles' recent trip to America with his wife, Camilla. But it was caught on a surveillance camera, and now the Palace is trying to hide the incredible encounter – and photo – from the world.

The woman, known only as "Sarah," met Charles at a remote country stable in Louisville, Ky., after the 66-year-old royal was convinced by Prince William that she could be a daughter he never knew existed.

But an insider says Charles treated the 33-year-old honey blonde "like dirt," branded her a "gold-digging monster" and offered her money to disappear.

The insider adds that Sarah was stunned by the attack but stood her ground, saying she wanted nothing from him other than to know who she really is.

"I know you are my real father and Diana is my mother," she said before begging him to take a DNA test.

Erupted in anger

At that point, the insider says Charles raged, "Enough of this nonsense!" and stormed off.

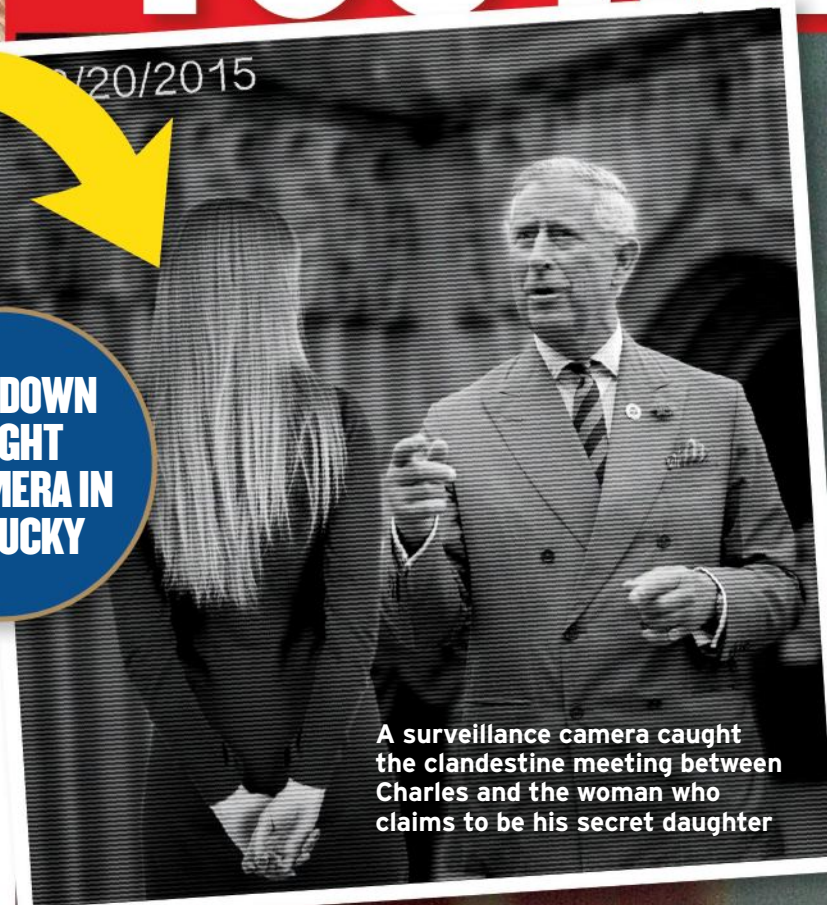

That's when Sarah erupted in anger, shouting, "I know you killed my mother. You killed Diana!"

The insider says, "Charles turned white in shock. He stopped dead in his tracks and started to turn, then thought better of it, got in his car and ordered the driver to 'get out of here.'"

"Sarah was left sobbing. It was an extraordinary sight."

As GLOBE revealed exclusively last December, William's wife Kate secretly met with Sarah at a New York hotel during the royal couple's trip to the U.S. in November. There, Sarah told Kate she believed she may be the mysterious baby long rumored to have been conceived by Charles and Diana before they wed.

The story parallels The Disappearance of Olivia, a book that mixes fact and fiction, by American author Nancy E. Ryan. In it, Ryan claims that in December 1980, Diana, then a 19-year-old virgin, had her eggs harvested and fertilized with Prince Charles' sperm to prove she could bear a royal heir.

The embryos were later ordered destroyed, but a member of the medical team kept one and implanted it in his wife, who bore a baby named Olivia.

Meanwhile, Sarah was born in October 1981, 10 weeks after Charles and Diana's wedding. When she was in her 20s, her parents were killed in a car wreck and she discovered the truth of her birth in her mom's diary.

"Sarah tried to trace the origin of the donated embryo, but two years ago, a message was left on her phone warning her to stop looking – or else," says the insider. "Sarah told Kate she became so terrified, she moved to the U.S. She lives in New England but drove to Kentucky to see Charles."

After Kate told William she believed Sarah's story, he convinced his father to meet her.

"The truth is, Charles was shaken by Sarah's likeness to Diana in her looks and mannerisms," says another source. "Deep down he suspects she is his child, but he'll never admit it. And there will be no DNA test."

The Prince agreed to meet with Sarah after Prince William and Kate convinced him that he may be her father

SECRET BEHIND AIR CRASH DISASTER PILOT WHO MURDERED 150 WAS A TERRORIST MARTYR!

HEARTLESS co-pilot Andreas Lubitz deliberately killed 150 crew and passengers by ramming Germanwings Flight FU 9525 into a French mountainside – after being BRAINWASHED by the twisted ISIS terrorists!

A top intelligence expert tells GLOBE he believes 27-year-old Andreas Lubitz secretly decided to follow the heinous group's sickening call to kill Westerners.

Sick post

"He may have met with ISIS agents in Germany, or simply fallen under the sway of their message to kill non-Muslims and Westerners," the source says.

Boosting the expert's analysis that ISIS is behind the massacre was the sick post on a Facebook page dedicated to Lubitz after he crashed the doomed plane.

The post, reportedly by ISIS, describes Lubitz as "the French hero" and a martyr.

"That shows ISIS is thrilled they convinced Lubitz to do their bidding – kill a plane-load of non-believers," the source says.

The expert notes that Lubitz would be just one of thousands of young, disillusioned men and women around the world who have joined or tried to join the group at its bases in Syria and Iraq.

The expert says during these "gaps in his flight training, he could have made contact with ISIS or their murderous propaganda and been brainwashed.

"He was likely feeling his life was empty and sought to make his mark as a martyr."

"They have used social media expertly, and Lubitz may have been swayed by its messages," notes the intelligence source.

Shockingly, a friend disclosed that Lubitz at one time "burned out, stopped his Authorities say there's no doubt the March 24 crash in the French Alps was intentional. The "black box" that records activities in the cockpit showed that pilot Patrick Sonderheimer was locked out after taking a brief break.

Meanwhile, Lubitz set the flight-management system to start the plane's descent to doom, according to French prosecutor Brice Robin.

While Sonderheimer frantically pounded on the door, and passengers screamed in terror, the recorder caught Lubitz taking slow, calm breaths right to the horrific end.

"ISIS either got to him and brainwashed him, or he simply bought into their revolting message to kill," the source says.

FARRAH'S GHOST TORTURES RYAN

Love rat is bitter, twisted & lonely

WRACKED by guilt and sorrow over the death of Farrah Fawcett, Ryan O'Neal is a tormented wreck, haunted by losing the "love of his life."

The 73-year-old love rat, who broke Farrah's heart when she caught him in bed with another woman, has been in an agonizing downward spiral since the Charlie's Angel beauty died from anal cancer almost six years ago, pals say.

"Ryan can't get over her," says a friend. "He's obsessed. He talks to her portrait. He asks her permission before he does anything. It's like she's running his life from beyond the grave!"

"We fear he's living in a fantasy world. Ryan has isolated almost everyone who ever cared about him."

THE 1990 super-hit Pretty Woman had a fairy-tale ending, but star Julia Roberts shockingly reveals that the original script was a downer.

Instead of wealthy tycoon Richard Gere falling in love with hooker Roberts, the first version had her turn into a druggie, with a sad ending.

"Richard's character threw my character out of the car, threw the money ($3,000) on top of her and drove away," she reveals.

PENN WANTS MORE TV VIOLENCE

HOT-headed Sean Penn says we need MORE violence on TV!

The combative actor, 54, thinks Americans are being protected from seeing disturbing images by political correctness, and that makes us numb to war crimes like Islamic State beheadings.

"We are not seeing enough real violence," says The Gunman star. "We are being anesthetized when you don't see the horror of war."

"But there are times he gets so enraged he flies off the handle – to the point you wonder if he's about to have a heart attack! He seems at a crisis point in his life."

In his latest shocking outburst, the Love Story star shocked an Irish TV studio audience while attending a film festival in Dublin.

Furious tirade

At first, he talked tenderly about Farrah, revealing he had never loved her more than during her "brave" fight against cancer.

Then he suddenly exploded into a furious tirade against estranged 51-year-old daughter actress Tatum O'Neal!

Ryan claims Tatum tried to drive a wedge between him and Farrah. Branding Tatum "a devil," he confessed he is "mad" at his only daughter. And friends say he has "no relationship at all" with his older sons, Patrick and Griffin. His relations with son Redmond, who is Farrah's only child, is strained.

O'Neal and the blonde pinup began their romance in 1979. But the relationship ended in 1997 when she came home to Malibu and caught O'Neal in bed with actress Leslie Stefanson.

After her 2006 cancer diagnosis, they grew close again, although Farrah had hooked up with an old college boyfriend.

Now, nearly six years after her death, O'Neal has battled leukemia and prostate cancer. He is haunted by her memory and claims he hasn't dated since Farrah's death – although he's been photographed several times with another woman on a California beach.

"Ryan's bitter and carries an enormous amount of guilt over the way he treated Farrah in their relationship," says the pal.

"He broke Farrah's heart and now he says his own heart is broken."

DOLLY DUMPED BY FED-UP HUBBY!

DOLLY PARTON's reclusive husband, Carl Dean, dumped the country queen as one of Nashville's strangest marriages nears the 50-year mark, stunned sources reveal.

The 69-year-old songbird was planning a major celebration for her golden wedding anniversary next year, but Carl shattered those dreams because he doesn't want all the commotion, the sources add.

"Dolly and Carl never do

'A real kick in the teeth'

"She even offered to do it all at their estate in Brentwood (Tenn.), so Carl wouldn't have to leave home.

"But he's dead-set against it. And it's a real kick in the

"It's put a wedge in their marriage. Quite frankly, it's left them both bitter."

The odd couple's love story began in 1964, when Dolly moved to Nashville from Pigeon Forge, Tenn., to chase stardom. She met Carl at a laundromat just weeks after hitting town. They wed in secret about two years later at mother, Avie Lee, attended the wedding. There was no honeymoon – and Dolly went on tour almost immediately.

"She missed out on the wedding of her dreams and now feels like Carl is cheating her out of the chance to really do it up right the second time around" reveals the friend.

Devastated

But for reclusive Carl, who has only attended ONE concert given by his wife, "the thought of having a big wedding bash is like poison," says another source.

Carl's refusal to celebrate their 50th anniversary in a big way has devastated Dolly, say insiders.

"She's heartsick and humiliated," notes a source. "She told all her friends this was her chance to have a dream wedding, and now it's all blown up. She's blaming Carl, and everyone's wondering if she'll ever forgive him" or if it will come to the ultimate Parton of the ways.

BRAVE KELLY HAVING BREASTS REMOVED

— just like Angelina!

KELLY OSBOURNE is keeping a stiff upper lip after finding out that she's harboring the dreaded gene mutation that dramatically increases the risk of cancer.

The plucky reality TV star's mom, Sharon, ordered Kelly and siblings Jack and Aimee to have genetic tests done to see if they inherited the defective gene from her – and it turned out to be a lifesaving decision!

Double mastectomy

"I actually do have the cancer gene," the 30-year-old revealed on the March 24 episode of The Talk, a gabfest co-hosted by Sharon, who was off that day. "My mom made all of us get tested after she found out that she had it and got her double mastectomy."

Now Kelly is determined to follow the example of Sharon and screen sexpot Angelina Jolie in having the same heart-breaking preventive surgery.

"I know that one day I will eventually have to do it too, because if I have children, I want to be there to bring them up," says Kelly.

The mutation of the BRCA gene is the most common cause of hereditary breast cancer and also puts a woman at high risk for ovarian cancer. Experts say the most effective preventive treatment is removal of the breasts and the ovaries.

While Kelly's famous mom never had breast or ovarian cancer, she did battle colon cancer in 2002. And after discovering she carried the terrifying gene mutation, she underwent her double mastectomy in 2011.

"I knew I wanted it gone," says Sharon. "When you carry the breast cancer gene, you have to get a mammogram every six months, and it's almost as though you have a

Now, Kelly is grimly determined to follow her mom's courageous example.

"I'm so lucky to have the brave mother I have that has taught me so much," she says.

Kelly made her shocking cancer revelation just hours after Jolie revealed in a New York Times essay that she'd undergone a second surgery to reduce her risks.

Jolie, 39, lost her beloved mother, aunt and grandmother to cancer and famously underwent a double mastectomy after discovering she had the deadly gene mutation.

Meanwhile, Kelly, who quit her gig on E! network's Fashion Police in February, hasn't set a date for preventive surgery.

KILLER WIFE KEPT IN TUPPERWARE!

COLD-BLOODED Loretta Doyle Burroughs killed her husband then stored his dismembered remains in plastic kitchen containers for seven years!

She even moved at least twice, taking tragic Daniel Burroughs' body parts with her, before the grisly death was discovered during a fraud investigation into the missing man's disappearance.

Loretta, a 63-year-old grandmother, had told everyone Daniel had left her for another woman. She even came up with a tale about how the happy couple drove off for Florida in a yellow Hummer. Then she schemed her way into getting a power of attorney for Daniel and raked in more than $100,000 by selling his possessions and a house they both owned.

In reality, the she-devil stabbed her husband to death. Then she used a saw and a knife to cut him up. When done, the fiend stashed the body parts in handy leak-proof kitchen containers with snap-on lids.

"She killed her husband, eviscerated his corpse, and she placed him in Tupperware for seven years to rot," says prosecutor Seth Levy. "Overall, she did it for the money."

She said he'd left her for another gal but he was rotting in closet for 7 years

CRIME SCENE

Daniel was killed inside this Mays Landing, N.J., home

Loretta moved the remains to her Ventnor, N.J., home, where they were stored in a closet (right)

"She thought she got away with it. The only thing that could stop her was Danny himself."

And the dead man did just that in May 2013 when an investigator found the containers in a closet at Loretta's Ventnor, N.J., home. They were wrapped in nine layers of black plastic bags that also held dryer sheets, air fresheners and scented beads to mask the stench of decomposition.

And her trick worked pretty well.

"Five times I was in that house listening to her lies," says Daniel's half-brother, Ray Wantorcik. "My brother could have been in the next room, rotting in a container. I did not believe for an instant that my brother was on the property. I thought he would have been in a landfill or dump.”

Stabbed several times

After seven years, there wasn't much left of 63-year-old Daniel, apart from bones. His skull and jawbone were found in a woman's handbag that was soaked in bodily fluids from the decomposition. A forensic dental expert confirmed the victim's identity.

Other experts were able to determine Daniel was stabbed several times before being chopped up. Toxicology reports also showed there were some drugs in his system, including amphetamines.

In court, defense attorney Anthony Previti claimed no one knew who killed and dismembered Daniel, why it was done or when, adding, “We don't even know, beyond a reasonable doubt, that it was murder in the first place.”

But prosecutor Levy points out, “You don't overdose on crystal meth and then cut yourself up.”

Meanwhile, Loretta appeared to be a kind-hearted lady who worked in an assisted living facility. She conned an attorney and notary public whose relatives she was caring for to help her get the legal authority needed to cash in on Daniel's disappearance.

“I agreed to help her out because she was overly good and generous with my mother,” says the man who arranged the notarization.

Wantorcik adds Loretta comes off as “a mix of Martha Stewart and Julia Child” but is really a “diabolical person.”

On March 17, it took a jury just two hours to convict Loretta. She now faces life in prison when she is sentenced on April 22.

Says Wantorcik, “My brother won this case for himself.”

DEVIL IN DISGUISE!

African-American robbed bank disguised as old white guy - COPS CHARGE

Constant was busted March 8

CAUGHT ON CAMERA

A seemingly elderly white man holds up a bank - but it's really African-American Benoit Constant (far left) wearing a disguise, say cops

COPS in Cornelius, N.C., hunted for months for a gun-toting senior citizen who held up a local bank - only to find out the doddering desperado was in fact a 28-year-old master of disguise!

Benoit Constant was busted after he was stopped during a routine traffic stop in Wichita Falls, Texas, 1,200 miles away from where lawmen say he pulled off the daring heist.

Cops say Constant, who is black, donned a life-like latex mask that made him look like an elderly white guy to pull off the Dec. 9, 2014 stickup.

Surveillance video from inside the Carolinas Telco Federal Credit Union shows a Caucasian man wearing dark

Milandra Constant Made a bomb threat as a distraction, cops say glasses, a baseball cap and gloves pointing a gun at the teller with one hand and holding a striped bag for the loot in the other.

Lawmen say the gunman's accomplice, his sister Milandra Constant, called in a fake bomb threat to a YMCA on the other side of town to create diversion that would draw police away from the bank.

After the robbery, the thief raced away on foot, but cops later found a bicycle and cash lying outside a nearby shopping center.

Investigators linked a silver minivan with Delaware plates to the heist. The vehicle, which was traced to Milandra, was spotted at the shopping center and the YMCA. She was arrested at the wheel of the suspect vehicle in Maryland about a week after the robbery.

Officers say they found an old man mask and the striped bag seen in the surveillance footage in the van. Milandra was charged with robbery with a dangerous weapon and making a false bomb threat.

But Benoit Constant was still at large until March 8, when Texas state troopers pulled over his Lexus for a traffic violation.

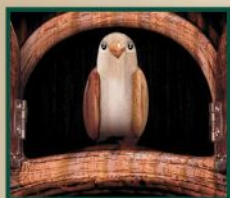

At first, the suspected hold-up artist gave a phony name. But when troopers ran his plates, they discovered he was wanted in North Carolina on robbery charges. Desperate Benoit took off on foot before being tackled and arrested in a residential neighborhood. He's charged in Texas with evading arrest.

He's also facing charges of robbery with a dangerous weapon and making a false bomb report in North Carolina. Meanwhile, the FBI is trying to determine if Constant can be linked to other bank jobs around the country.

CELINE'S DYI -TH

CELINE Dion's dying manager husband Rene Angelil is desperately trying to prepare the devastated songbird for life without him, say sources.

Battling deadly cancer for the third time, the 73-year-old Angelil, father of her sons Rene-Charles, 14, and 4-year-old twins Nelson and Eddy, is no longer able to speak or eat on his own.

Still, he's courageously nudging his superstar wife back to work and getting her more involved in her business affairs so she'll be ready to go it alone, say sources.

"Celine's scared to death of losing Rene," says a source. "It's almost too much to bear thinking about - raising her children alone, being without him."

Following a year-long hiatus, the 47-year-old songbird is returning to her Las Vegas act at Caesar's Palace on August 27.

"He wants me to sing again," says Celine. "It was Rene's wish that I come back. He amazes me. I feel very fortunate to have him."

"He can't eat so I feed him," says Dion. "He's got a feeding tube. I have to feed him three times a day."

Last year, they got the grim news that the cancer had returned.

"We're not questioning, 'Why? How come again?'" says Celine. "We just have to get through it the best possible way.

"I'm scared of losing him because it's bad."

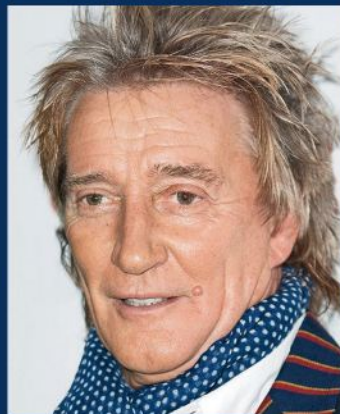

Now, he's pushing his wife into the role of business mogul, says a source, adding, "He knows that eventually she'll have to take over the reins."

The area of the luggage belt behind the wall is off-limits to the public - even if your dad is a rock star!

The troublemaker spent a night behind bars and was released the following day on $500 bond.

Famed Doctor's Natural "Anti-Gas Pill" Hailed "Total Solution" for Digestion & Regularity!

Doctor's super-strain probiotic clinically shown to end gas, bloat, constipation, irritated bowel, and cramps—even after you eat your favorite foods!

When you eat a normal meal do you feel bloated? Followed by gas or burping episodes? Is it painful, annoying, and embarrassing? If you said yes to these questions it is a clear sign your digestive system is too cluttered with bad bacteria, and not enough good.

Living in a Food Prison!

Cramping, occasional constipation, a protruding belly and untimely trips to the bathroom can literally take away your ability to enjoy life. Thanks to a nutritional science breakthrough you no longer have to give up the foods you enjoy.

Clinically Tested All-In-One Gut Solution

The solution is very simple—replace bad bacteria with good. After decades of working with food scientists, famed doctor David Williams isolated seven super strain probiotics clinically shown to eliminate excess gas. He created Probiotic Advantage®, which thousands have used to win back their "food freedom". It's becoming America's favorite "Anti-Gas Pill"!

Probiotic Advantage works fast, and is what Dr. Williams is calling the "smart solution" because it is not a temporary fix, it actually turns off the cause of excess gas, constipation, bloat, and irritating bowel symptoms. This revolutionary probiotic formula ensures you are getting the right kinds of probiotic into the entire digestive system.

BIO-tract® Technology Makes the Difference

Two problems exist with many store brand probiotic supplements. First, many deliver dead bacteria due to short shelf lives. Second, many pro-biotics are destroyed by your stomach acid and never fully make it to your intestines where the painful issues begin.

To solve both problems, Dr. Williams combined two breakthrough technologies into his tiny "Anti-Gas Pill". To insure the probiotic organisms aren't killed by stomach acid, he uses LiveBac® technology, which keeps the good bacteria alive and active to your entire digestive tract where problems like gas, constipation, and diarrhea actually happen.

He combined that with patented BIO-tract technology, which coats the tiny pea sized caplet with a special gel to protect the billions of probiotics that are slowly and evenly released, getting into the small and large intestines completely for total repopulation of good bacteria.

"I've tested every kind of delivery system, from dry capsules, to wafers, liquids, powders, timed-release, and controlled-release, and I can tell you that nothing works as well as the new BIO-tract technology to get the live, active probiotics exactly where they're needed the most—down to the lower parts of the intestine that other supplements can't reach. This is the best way to get your probiotics, hands down." — Dr. Williams

Restore Regularity

"This is my tenth day on Probiotic Advantage. I already see the difference in my bowel movements, no cramping and especially no diarrhea, which became very embarrassing at times. I am able to eat foods that I used to be afraid to eat, because they would fill me up fast with bloating and gas." — Mary H.*

Be Done with Constipation

Many factors contribute to uncomfortable elimination, such as hard and compacted stools, stress, lack of physical activity, medication, and even aging itself. After a short time on Probiotic Advantage, the average person has a couple of perfect, soft, full, long, and daily bowel movements that are free from excess mucus.

Feel Relief Even After Years of Suffering

"I suffered from the symptoms of an irritated bowel for ten years. I experienced abdominal pain

New Bio-Tract technology guarantees probiotics survive harsh stomach acid to be released along the entire intestine, for total digestion and elimination relief.

Insurgent

IT'S been three years since Octavia Spencer won the Best Supporting Actress Oscar for The Help – but she hasn't been resting on her laurels.

She's done a slew of movie and TV projects and the 44-year-old's latest effort, Insurgent, is a sci-fi movie blockbuster!

In the flick, Spencer plays Johanna, the wise leader of the newly organized "Amity" Faction commune in the second installment of the Divergent dramas.

Here, Spencer – who already has six movie and TV projects in the works for 2015 – talks about survival, having children and career choices in an interview with a freelance journalist.

The actress won her Oscar for her role in The Help as the maid Minnie in '60s Mississippi alongside Jessica Chastain (right)

Q: Your career went from zero to 900 after you won the Oscar. Do you feel lucky?

A: Absolutely. I am eternally grateful for the opportunities coming my way these days. I think I work too much now.

Q: You come from a big family and you lost your parents early. Did you develop a sense of survival early?

A: I had to. I lost my dad when I was 13. I was 18 when my mother left us. My mom taught all of us that we should dream big, that we should try to accomplish big things in life.

Q: You often play very nurturing characters, yet you haven't had children of your own. Why is that?

'I lost my dad when I was 13'

A: You hustle, you work, you travel a lot. And one day you wake up and you realize time is gone. I am still hopeful it can happen, but if it doesn't happen, I won't be upset.

Q: Do you have anything in common with your character, Johanna?

A: I would hope that I try to keep the peace! I am nurturing to an extent, but I'm not as restrained as her. I do aspire to be that way though.

Q: Do you feel pressure to be successful?

A: I don't feel any pressure going through life. I am OK with whatever comes my way.

Q: You write a children's book series based on a Ninja detective called Randi Rhodes.

A: I write about kids who solve mysteries. I am a big mystery fan. I love to figure things out.

Q: Are you a big TV fan?

A: I am! I do a lot of binge watching. I love Criminal Minds.

Q: Have you ever thought of another career?

A: If I wasn't acting, I would probably be a forensic scientist today!

The Sweetest Heist in History is Octavia's latest "Randi Rhodes" novel

MOVIE stars used to be bigger than life - but no more! Old-time leading men who'd beat the bad guy and get the girl at least cracked the 6-foot mark. But things have changed. As movie budgets go up, the stars have definitely been downsized. These days, short and sensitive is the hot thing in Tinseltown and big and brawny is history!

Medical news YOU can use!

THIS year's harsh winter conditions triggered an early allergy season, but experts reveal you can take simple steps to beat the agonizing symptoms like sneezing, wheezing, runny noses and itchy, watery eyes.

Says Dr. James Sublett, president of the American College of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology, "The key is to know what plant you're allergic to and treat the symptoms early before it begins to bloom."

Antihistamines

Here are some easy tips from Sublett and Dr. Andy Nish of the Northeast Georgia Physicians Group that can help you survive the allergy season:

- Keep allergens outdoors by shutting windows and doors in your home and car.
- Vacuum door mats, carpets, furniture and curtains to remove irritants.
- Stay indoors as much as possible during the morning and on hot, dry windy days when pollen and allergens are at their peak.
- Use an air-filtering mask equipped with HEPA filters. Masks can be as effective as over-the-counter medicines in preventing reactions.

Sneezing is a common reaction to pollen allergies, which can be tested by a doctor

HOW TO SURVIVE ALLERGY SEASON

- Take medicine if needed. Antihistamines can reduce allergic reactions. Nasal steroids are helpful if started a week or two before pollen hits. Flonase and Nasacort AQ are now available without a prescription. Zyrtec, Allegra and Claritin cause the least drowsiness.
- Try immunotherapy tablets for grass and ragweed pollens. Newly approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, they're dissolved under the tongue daily.

- Get allergy shots. Immune-boosting injections can help you survive the allergy season, especially if the symptoms last for months. Most patients need them on a monthly basis, says Nish.

- Beware of certain fruits and vegetables. People with grass allergies may also have an allergic reaction to tomatoes, potatoes and peaches. This is called food pollen syndrome.

Pistachios beat diabetes

+ EATING a few handfuls of tasty pistachios - or about 150 nuts - every day boosts the heart health of diabetics, says an article in the Journal of the American Heart Association. After a month of munching pistachios, a test group's "blood vessels remained more relaxed and open during stress," say researchers.

Choline boosts your memory

+ CHOLINE, a nutrient similar to B vitamins, boosts long-term memory and the ability to focus, a study reveals. Research determined the children of moms given choline - found in supplements and in eggs, soy and chicken - in their third trimester of pregnancy were better able to focus and learn than kids whose mothers ate standard diets.

MARVIN GAYE'S two "penniless" sisters are locked in a nasty feud with his three children and ex-wife Jan over a mega-bucks court payout.

Family tensions erupted when Gaye's kids – Marvin III, 49, Nona, 40, and Frankie, 39 – were awarded $7.4 million in a lawsuit charging that Robin Thicke's 2013 hit Blurred Lines ripped off Marvin's 1977

Blurred Lines singers Pharrell Williams and Robin Thicke

song Got to Give it Up.

This March, a court found that Blurred Lines shared many similarities to Gaye's hit. Musicians Thicke and Pharrell Williams were ordered to pay up for the copyright breach.

But Gaye's two sisters, Zeola, 69, and Jeanne, 78, claim they've been cut off financially from the payoff and their brother's royalties and are living in virtual poverty.

Family feud

"The bottom line is that they get everything and we don't get a dime," says Zeola.

"If I was given a few million, it would change my life a lot.

"Marvin would have hated to have seen us like this. He would have cared for us and made sure we were fine financially and with love.

"It is hard knowing that all that money is going around and we will never see any of it."

MARVIN GAYE FAMILY AT WAR!

...over $7.4 million payout

EX-WIFE AND CHILDREN

SISTER

Thirty years after the death of soul legend Marvin Gaye, his sisters, including Zeola (right) are warring with his ex-wife and kids

In 1984, Gaye, 44, was tragically shot and killed by his father, Marvin Sr., who accused him of having an affair with his mother.

The Gaye family feud worsened three years ago, when Zeola, a retired bookkeeper living in Las Vegas, published her tell-all book. She accused Marvin's ex-wife, Jan, 55, of cheating on him and trying to poison him during their 11-year marriage.

But Zeola says she tried to mend fences by sending congratulations to Jan for the recent court win.

But she says Jan accused her of "picking on your brother's bones."

"Marvin would have been horrified by this situation because he cared for and loved his family," Zeola says.

SJP SELLS 'CLOSET' FOR $20 MILLION

SARAH JESSICA PARKER'S clothes must be worth a fortune because her "closet" just sold for around $20 million!

The Sex and the City beauty recently unloaded the fabulous Greenwich Village townhouse she and actor-hubby Matthew Broderick bought for $19 million in 2011.

Incredibly, the couple completely renovated the 6,800-square-foot pad - but never lived there.

They resided with their two kids in another joint, while the 50-year-old fashion plate used the five-bedroom townhouse as a closet to store her designer duds. Originally listed for $25 million, the price dropped.

Now that it's been sold, Sarah will need a new place to store her fancy shoes.

DEMI BANNED FROM BRUCE'S 60TH BIRTHDAY BASH!

HOLLYWOOD's happiest divorce has hit a pothole!

Bruce Willis celebrated his 60th birthday with a star-studded bash at a swanky Manhattan restaurant - and ex-wife Demi Moore was nowhere to be seen.

The two stars have been Tinseltown's most amicable exes since their 1998 split following an 11-year marriage and three daughters, Rumer, 26, Scout, 23, and Tallulah, 21.

But Demi was missing at the March 21 party, and a friend tells GLOBE that Bruce's current wife, 38-year-old model Emma Heming, was the reason.

"Demi plainly makes Emma uncomfortable," reveals the friend. "She has a way of stealing the show, and Emma didn't want her upstaging Bruce on his big day."

While Demi didn't make the list, Emma, mom of Bruce's daughters Mabel, 3, and Evelyn, 11 months, made sure a galaxy of stars were on hand.

Music legends Keith Richards and Tony Bennett joined the celebration at the New York eatery, Harlow, along with Bruce's Reds co-star Mary Louise Parker and actress Carol Kane, to name a few.

"Bruce could well have wanted Demi there," says the pal. "But he's not going to let her be a problem in his marriage."

Demi (left) was snubbed while Bruce's wife Emma (above) and daughters Tallulah (below, left) and Scout enjoyed the party

"She chose the playlist herself for the hour-long set - 16 of Elton's greatest hits including Goodbye Yellow Brick Road," says a source.

Elton mimic Bacon reveals the gig was Farebrother's idea, saying, "She wanted to hear the music she knows and loves so much."

Now, Elton, 67, is "furious" because "he knows that it will look unfeeling of him not to be on speaking terms with his elderly mother," says a friend.

LEO July 23 - August 23

Self-doubt is your biggest enemy now, and it's unlike you to be so unsure of yourself! It's just the planets aligning to cause mischief and once the moon moves into Aries later in the week, you'll get your mojo back. A financial problem turns into an opportunity for gain Sunday when you dig a little deeper into a warranty you'd forgotten.

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

Fear of opening up to a new love or friend is crippling your relationship, and even pushing you apart. Have the courage to let your feelings out into the open now and you'll find it doesn't hurt a bit! Stay away from big purchases and investments while Mars and Jupiter clash. Fun with family brightens your weekend – say yes to an invite!

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

It's time to set aside your fear of looking silly. Mercury aligning with Saturn brings a chance to turn an unusual talent into a moneymaker! When someone encourages you to join a new exercise or diet plan, take a closer look. It may not be good for you. A disagreement with your partner leads to a clearing of the air that draws you closer.

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

Something distressing comes to light...but then the gentle Pisces moon reveals more information, and the truth brings a golden opportunity to improve your lot in life. Taking time for a financial checkup could reveal ways to cut expenses and set aside more fun money. Let common sense – yours, not another's – be your health guide.

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

Trying to revive a flagging friendship may be like beating a dead horse while Venus and Saturn squabble. Better to seek new companionship with someone you truly enjoy than to struggle to get along! It's tempting to overextend financially – leave the credit cards at home to keep your bankbook happy. A party invitation is a welcome surprise!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

The old cliché “it's always darkest before the dawn” is reality for you, Goat, and it's vital you meet any problems head-on. The moon in Aquarius inspires new ways of looking at old issues and plans you put into motion now begin a cycle of prosperity that will last for years. Be ready for an introduction to someone new. If you're single, sparks could fly!

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

Looking for inspiration and not finding it is a sign you need to take a break. Make time for play often this week. If you're trying to overcome a health worry, small regular changes will be more worthwhile than extreme efforts. Pluto steers you to bargains needed to run your household smoothly. Stock up now for big savings!

PISCES February 19 - March 20

Peaceful surroundings are a must for Fish to feel serene, but you're not finding it at home with too much stuff and no place to put it. It's time to part with the clutter – the clear space that results provides an immediate mood boost! You're worrying about telling someone a secret, but go ahead – Neptune in your sign says: They already know!

SOLUTION FOR WEEK #10

Chelsea Handler on scandal-plagued comic: HE TRIED TO 'COSBY' ME!

Cosby settled Constand's lawsuit

FALLEN idol Bill Cosby has been accused yet again of being a disgusting sexual predator by a high-profile showbiz beauty – comic Chelsea Handler.

TV's Chelsea Lately star claims the comedy legend, 77, planned to drug and bed her in an Atlantic City hotel room – just a decade ago!

Scandal

He “tried to Cosby me!” charges the funnygal.

The 40-year-old blonde says she was performing stand-up in Atlantic City at the same time Cosby was doing a show in the same hotel.

At 3 p.m., an employee arrived and declared, “Mr. Cosby would really like to meet you up in his hotel suite,” she says.

Handler claims the invite immediately raised red flags in her mind. “I said, ‘That’s really weird. I don’t know him.’”

Handler accepted – but brought a couple of male pals with her to the suite. “And thank God I did, because now I know what would have happened if I went up there alone,” she says.

Since Handler’s apparent close call 10 years ago, Cosby has been tangled in a series of shameful sex scandals involving numerous women. The first to go public was Andrea Constand. In 2005, she filed a complaint against the I Spy star saying that Cosby drugged and molested her in his Philadelphia home the year before.

She says she was 31 and met Cosby while working in the athletic department of his alma mater, Temple University. Authorities declined to prosecute Cosby saying they had “insufficient credible and admissible evidence.”

So Constand filed a civil suit. And her attorneys found 13 other women who claimed that Cosby drugged and sexually assaulted or raped them.

Cosby’s attorneys denied those charges. But the star, who played perfect family man Dr. Cliff Huxtable on The Bill Cosby Show from 1984 to 1992, settled with Constand confidentially on Nov. 8, 2006.

Recently, nearly two dozen women have come forward with similar claims against the father of five children with his wife of 51 years, Camille.

Former models Beverly Johnson and Janice Dickinson claim to be Cosby victims.

Model Chloe Goins says she was 18 when he drugged and attacked her at the Playboy mansion in 2008.

Cosby’s lawyer has denied all the accusations.

Handler says she forgot about her incident until “my friend texted me the other day saying, ‘Do you remember...that afternoon we went up to Bill Cosby’s room and you were so freaked out you made us come with you?’”

“He said, ‘Hello! You could’ve been one of his victims if we weren’t there.’”

“And I went, ‘Oh my gosh!’”

NOW?

FORMER Joe Millionaire hunk Evan Marriott has bounced back after the reality show threw him into a blue funk and he spiraled into a booze-fueled nightmare, he says.

The 40-year-old Marriott, now a bearded contractor with his own small firm, became the first genuine reality star when he appeared on FOX's Joe Millionaire in 2003.

But the strain of overnight fame drove him into "a pretty bad depression and paranoia" and he began hitting the bottle hard and drowning his sorrows in saloons.

Intervention

Finally, his friends said, "You can't come by our offices and just hang out anymore and say, 'What are you doing today?'"

Marriott says, "It was like, 'What are YOU doing today?' And I was just going to the bar."

But instead of deserting him, his pals came to his rescue.

"They got together,

JOE MILLIONAIRE WINS BOOZE BATTLE!

THEN

'Joe Millionaire' Evan Marriott picked Zora Andrich (right) over runner-up Sarah Kozer (left) from 20 beauties, which GLOBE revealed in the Feb. 4, 2003, issue. The relationship crashed and burned after the show ended had a little intervention, a come-to-Jesus moment," he says.

The Virginia Beach native was a hunky, $19,000-a-year hard hat when show bigwigs gave him the role of a fat cat worth $50 million, being chased by 20 gorgeous gal contestants. After he picked Zora Andrich, now a yoga instructor, they split the $1 million prize. They also split up the day after the show's last episode.

But becoming an

instant celeb blew his mind.

"It just happened... overnight," he explains. "I was staying at New York's Central Park South, the night of the first show. I went to bed as Evan Marriott and the next day, when I went out on the street, people were at stoplights, in their cars, yelling out at me, 'Joe, Joe!'"

"And I'm going, 'Who the hell is Joe?'"

Now, since kicking his booze demons and diving back into the construction business, "everything has been great," he says. "I did my first job...I got it and literally was almost in tears. I called my dad and said, 'I feel like I've just been paroled. This is where I should have been.'"

BRAVE JOAN LUNDEN IS CANCER-FREE AT LAST!

FORMER newsgal Joan Lunden's terrifying bout with breast cancer has given her a new lease on life - and she's now on a quest to help other women stricken by the deadly disease.

"You go in one person, and you really do come out another," says the former Good Morning America host about her battle with a very aggressive form of the ravaging scourge.

Brave Joan, 64, endured 16 chemotherapy treatments, a lumpectomy and radiation, and docs say she is cancer-free.

The mom of seven, who bravely posed without her wig on the cover of a major magazine to promote the cause, now has a new mission in life.

"Maybe my treatment is over," she says. "But this journey is far from over for me."

BEN STILLER'S BIG REGRET!

Joan Rivers hated him until the day
she died!

Ben's red carpet snub fueled his feud with Rivers

BETTER late than never!
Now that beloved Joan Rivers has gone to that big comedy club in the sky, her longtime adversary Ben Stiller is burying the hatchet.

The comic actor says he not only holds no hard feelings for the comedy legend but regrets they didn't kiss and make up before her sudden death last September.

"She had a thing about me. She didn't like me,"
Stiller told shock jock Howard Stern. "I never had an interaction with her."

Big insult

Stern and his crew implied that Rivers developed a grudge against Stiller after he snubbed the late Fashion Police star during a red carpet event – a big insult considering she was very good friends with his famous comedian parents Anne Meara and Jerry Stiller.

"I don't remember that happening, but I'm sure it did," says Stiller about the snub." He added that he later heard she dissed him in a documentary by calling him "lucky."
The acid-tongue comedienne also once said about Stiller, "I've met him several times, and he's very arrogant."

Says Stiller, "So then the beef started."

Yet the Zoolander star still didn't fully grasp why Joan had such a negative opinion of him.

"I didn't understand why she didn't like me," he says. "She had a thing because she was friends with my parents."

Despite the friction, Stiller, 49, insists that he admires all that Rivers accomplished before dying unexpectedly at age 81 during a routine outpatient procedure on her throat.

"She was great and I feel bad that we never got to work that out," he says. "My parents were really friends with her and spent a lot of time and worked with her, and she had an amazing career."

Reaction was split on the Internet.

One poster writes, "As abrasive as Joan could be, she was by many accounts very concerned with manners and social decorum."

But another one says, "Are you serious?
Joan Rivers held a grudge against a guy for years just because he didn't say hi to her on the red carpet? And she calls HIM arrogant?
She could dish it out, but she sure couldn't take it!"

Joan was a pal of Ben's folks, Anne Meara and Jerry Stiller (above)

WENDY BREATHING DOWN ELLEN'S NECK

OUTRAGEOUS personality Wendy Williams is on the verge of overtaking Ellen DeGeneres as the top female talk show host in the country!

After hosting her syndicated self-titled show since 2008, Wendy's audience has soared in the past 12 months, vying with Ellen on a daily basis to rule the ratings roost.

The program attracts an average 2.4 million viewers each day, the same number as Ellen. And among the coveted bracket of women aged 25-54, the brash beauty has the only show that has upped its numbers each year since it debuted.

"There are so many talented people who tried to do these shows who have not succeeded," says leading TV analyst Robert Thompson, referring to the likes of Queen Latifah, Katie Couric, Anderson Cooper and Jeff Probst.

"Even Couric, whose show you expected would have been good, just never worked.

"What Wendy does is some combination of making it seem like she's talking intimately and candidly to you, even though she's talking to millions of viewers."

Perky Meredith Vieira's talk show is watched by nearly a

Exuberant Wendy Williams has Ellen looking over her shoulder as their ratings gap narrows million fewer viewers than Williams', and there are rumors that NBC may ditch it in favor of a panel-type show similar to ABC's The View.

Dr. Phil with Phil McGraw is the No. 1 daytime talker that focuses on helping folks with their personal problems.

A major part of Williams' success has been her "Hot Topics" section, a 21-minute monologue about juicy celebrity gossip, which she spiels off without a script and virtually no notes.

The audience laps up her sassy off-the-cuff comments as she dishes on pop culture and spears celebrity romances and scandals.

"It seems like I have a slick mouth, but it's very methodical," she says.

Her fans are also drawn to her larger-than-life, over-the-top appearance. Standing 5-foot-11, she usually wears high heels and glamorous wigs. Her "balloonish" fake breasts and skinny long legs complete her eye-catching look.

Stay tuned to see how Queen Ellen answers the threat to her throne as Wendy's ratings continue to rocket!

'HAPPY' TERRIFIES SITCOM STAR

BLONDE beauty Elisha Cuthbert admits she has her heart in her mouth when she films her new NBC comedy, One Big Happy, live in front of a studio audience.

The actress, 32, who played Alex on Happy Endings for three seasons (2011 to 2013), says "With my last show, the process was working really long hours Monday through Friday.

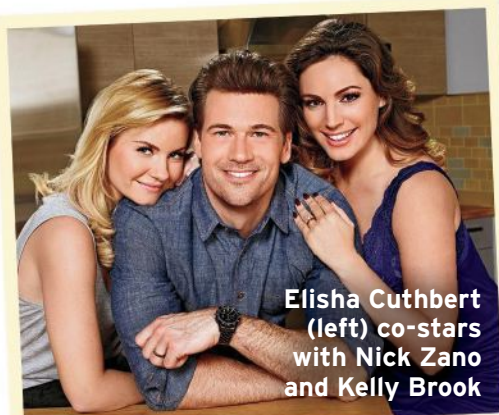

"Here, you come in Monday to Thursday and rehearse and go home by two in the afternoon. It's brilliant in that way. But come Friday, it is the craziest day of your life.

"You get up at 8 a.m., and the next thing you know you are in front of 250 people doing an entire episode. I thought the butterflies would subside after a couple of episodes, but it's still been terrifying after shooting six."

Adds Cuthbert, who plays pregnant lesbian Lizzy, "As much I loved the premise, I'd never done a comedy in front of a live audience before."

HOLLYWOOD hunk Christian Slater is hoping to salvage his wobbly TV career with a starring role as a hacker in the new USA drama Mr. Robot.

It centers on a young computer programmer named Elliot, played by Rami Malek, who suffers from an anti-social disorder and can only connect to people by hacking them.

Slater plays Mr. Robot, a mysterious anarchist who persuades Elliot to join an underground hacker organization hell-bent on bringing down corporate America.

After shooting to fame in the movie Heathers, Slater, 45, has had a string of TV flops in recent years.

BATTERED EX FIGHTS CSI STAR'S BANKRUPTCY

DEAD BROKE Gary Dourdan has filed for bankruptcy for the second time in three years - claiming he has just $905. But his ex-galpal Nicole Cannizzaro wants the court to make the former CSI star pay $120,000 for breaking her nose!

Dourdan reportedly agreed to give Cannizzaro $20,000 in cash and make 39 monthly payments of $2,500 in a settlement resulting from a vicious 2012 blow-up.

The 48-year-old actor, who earned more than $10,000 per episode playing Warrick Brown on CSI, lost his TV job for drugging and boozing, sources say. Now, he is asking the court to erase his debts.

But when it comes to the payoff for her broken snout, Nicole is hoping the judge will make Dourdan take it on the chin.

NEW 'LATE LATE' HOST LIKES TO KISS MEN!

Corden earned rave reviews interviewing Mila Kunis and Tom Hanks on his first show

NEW Late Late Show host James Corden has set tongues wagging with his public displays of affection with other guys!

The British-born TV star has stunned onlookers by making out with men on several occasions - and even gushing about how much he likes it.

After laying a wet smacker on the lips of Harry Potter star Daniel Radcliffe at a 2008 awards show, Corden said, "If you spent enough time with Dan, you can't help but kiss him on the mouth. We both enjoyed it very much."

'Big gay following'

Corden, who recently took over the CBS late night gig from Craig Ferguson, also publicly locked lips with English comedian David Walliams during a 2010 fund-raiser.

"The pair stunned onlookers when they suddenly grabbed each other and went in for a long, drawn-out, tongue frenzy," says an eyewitness.

He later sucked face with disc jockey Nick Grimshaw at a 2014 music awards show.

"They indulged in a slightly sloppy smooch," notes a source. And a fan site reports that Corden, 36, was caught

Despite his penchant for kissing other men, Corden is actually quite the straight arrow. He's been happily married to Julia Carey since 2012 and is dad to their son Max, 4, and 6-month-old daughter Carey.

SCREEN HUNK PAUL WALKER WAS MURDERED!

PAUL WALKER was the victim of foul play – and shocking new evidence in the fiery death of the Fast & Furious star and his pal, Roger Rodas, shows they were intentionally killed, a top investigator tells GLOBE.

“Cops apparently didn’t secure the accident scene and were in such a rush to clear the street for traffic they missed critical evidence,” charges private eye Paul Huebl, a former Chicago cop.

Paul Huebl

As Walker’s last movie, Furious 7, opens nationwide, Huebl says mysterious fluid seen dripping from the wreckage as the star’s charred remains were removed makes him question if the 2005 Porsche Carrera GT was tampered with before it crashed in an industrial park in Valencia, Calif., on Nov. 30, 2013.

Walker, 40, and financial advisor, Rodas, 38, were both burned to death in the wreck, which was called an accident by cops. But that doesn’t explain the dripping fluid.

“Did anyone determine just what that fluid was?” asks Huebl. “Someone could well have cut the lines to the steering or the brakes. That would explain why the Porsche went out of control.”

Huebl says speculation is rampant that the men were rubbed out because they were prepared to expose a conspiracy to rip off disaster relief funds for survivors of Typhoon Haiyan, which hit the Philippines shortly before Walker's death.

The big-hearted hunk had founded a charity called Reach Out Worldwide, and in the process of setting it up, he and Rodas reportedly discovered "dirty money" flowing from disaster relief agencies to criminals.

Huebl notes that if the two men were about to expose a vast money-laundering scheme, that would be motive to silence them.

"Investigators should have brought in a forensic accountant to go over the books and see if funds were missing without Roger and Paul's permission," says Huebl. "Someone who was caught with sticky fingers might have targeted the guys for assassination."

Meanwhile, police quickly determined that speed was the prime reason for the crash. But while the sheriff's department found that the Porsche was traveling between 81 and 94 mph in a 45 zone, experts hired by Rodas' family claim the car was only going 55, says Huebl.

And the coroner's office claims it was blazing along at more than 100 mph.

"That's a huge difference between the three sets of experts," says Huebl. "And that tells me that something's fishy here and there is a cover-up."

DIESEL KID NAMED AFTER CO-STAR

SCREEN tough guy Vin Diesel showed his sensitive side by naming his new daughter, Pauline, after Paul Walker, even saying that he felt his tragic Fast & Furious co-star's presence in the delivery room as he cut the baby's umbilical cord.

But sources tell GLOBE remorse might have played a part, as the two actors had been feuding for years before Walker's shocking car crash death.

"Vin has told friends he feels terribly guilty about how he treated Paul when he was alive," says a source.

Pauline, born on March 16, is Vin's third kid with girlfriend Paloma Jimenez.

Hollywood FLASHBACK

BRANDO'S BEDTIME

YOUNG hunk MARLON BRANDO poses in P.J.s in a wardrobe test for the classic 1951 flick A Streetcar Named Desire. Brando, then 27, was reprising his role as crude stud Stanley Kowalski from the Broadway version where he won rave reviews and standing ovations. His portrayal of Stanley, who rapes his sister-in-law, was so perfect, the role is thought of as his alone. He did the same with his portrayal of Don Corleone in 1970's The Godfather. Even today, when people think of Streetcar or The Godfather - they think of Brando.

African Gem Cutter Makes $2,689,000 Mistake... Will You?

This story breaks my heart every time. Allegedly, just two years after the discovery of tanzanite in 1967, a Maasai tribesman knocked on the door of a gem cutter's office in Nairobi. The Maasai had brought along an enormous chunk of tanzanite and he was looking to sell. His asking price? Fifty dollars. But the gem cutter was suspicious and assumed that a stone so large could only be glass. The cutter told the tribesman, no thanks, and sent him on his way. Huge mistake. It turns out that the gem was genuine and would have easily dwarfed the world's largest cut tanzanite at the time. Based on common pricing, that "chunk" could have been worth close to $3,000,000!

The tanzanite gem cutter missed his chance to hit the jeweler's jackpot...and make history. Would you have made the same mistake then? Will you make it today?

In the decades since its discovery, tanzanite has become one of the world's most coveted gemstones. Found in only one remote place on Earth (in Tanzania's Merelani Hills, in the shadow of Mount Kilimanjaro), the precious purple stone is 1,000 times rarer than diamonds. Luxury retailers have been quick to sound the alarm, warning that supplies of tanzanite will not last forever. And in this case, they're right. Once the last purple gem is pulled from the Earth, that's it. No more tanzanite. Most believe that we only have a few years of supply left, which is why it's so amazing for us to offer this incredible price break. Some retailers along Fifth Avenue are more than happy to charge you outrageous prices for this rarity. Not Stauer. Staying true to our contrarian nature, we've decided to lower the price of one of the world's rarest and most popular gemstones.
